

THE WAR ON DOPING, 20 YEARS AGO

On Sept. 24, 1988, Canada's Ben Johnson won the 100-metre gold medal at the Seoul Olympics

Dec 10-12:12 PM

WHAT WAS THE DUBIN INQUIRY?

Called when Ben Johnson requested a thorough public inquiry as to all the circumstances surrounding his disqualification at the 1988 Seoul Olympics

- Started Jan. 11, 1989
- Ended Oct. 3, 1989
- 119 witnesses
- 14,817 pages of testimony
- Cost approximately $4 million

SOURCE: Commission of Inquiry into the Use of Drugs and Banned Practices Intended to Increase Athletic Performance and Star archives

Public skepticism of sport runs high despite efforts to curb cheating

$ Sponsorship

Dec 10-12:17 PM